

NCLE LASER CERTIFICATIONS

Our training programs make your clients eligible to sit for an NCLE Certification exam at any of 755 proctored locations around the world. These Certifications are open to any individuals who have met the requirements—even if they have not taken one of our own training programs. Your own programs can qualify them for this. Certifications are primarily directed toward nursing and technical staff within medically supervised practices.

Participating members in the NCLE include, among others:

*Professional Medical Education Assn
Rockwell Laser Industries
Laser Institute of America, and its Board of Laser Safety*

*Laser Certifications are available for:
Aesthetic, Surgical & Hair Removal
Medical Laser Safety Officers
Laser Repair Technicians*

Est. 2000

Over 750 individuals may now claim that they are *NCLE Laser Certified!*TM

a personal message

The intent of offering customized training packages under the umbrella of our non-profit organization is just that - CUSTOMIZATION - so please call me and we can explore various options. There are many.

We can offer you our “canned” home-study programs and in-house training at significant discounts for your customers, but we think we can do better than that.

Although we work with a network of faculty around the country, I myself have almost 30 years of experience in conducting medical & laser training in every specialty, and have been actively involved with groups like the ASLMS as a Scientific Fellow for more than 25 years in helping teach or direct many of those programs.

As Peter Drucker said: “Nothing happens until a sale is made”. We believe that credible third party education as part of your sales package helps make that happen. The issue to address in maintaining credibility is to balance the commercial content with a broader 3rd party view. We can do that.

You can also rely upon the fact that any information that is shared in this type of collaboration will be held in the strictest confidence. I think that those of you that have worked with me over the years know that I am good for my word.

Regards,
Greg

Affordable, Scalable, Credible & Professional Training

Many Laser & Equipment manufacturers already provide quality training programs for their customers. Partnering with our third party non-profit group to embody your equipment specific training into our more comprehensive training programs adds an additional level of credibility and professionalism to enhance your image & competitiveness.

Your clients will receive an accredited Certificate of Laser Training from our Association – the same that we provide to the Nursing and Allied Health Professionals at the ASLMS annual meetings.

We'll work with you to customize the training materials to highlight your own equipment and emphasize its specific features and benefits.

Affordable Training Packages

We think that both of us working together in a two tiered approach to training makes the most sense. A cost effective way to provide more comprehensive training that inservices from your sales-force alone just don't provide is to do this in tandem with our comprehensive Home-Study courses. Your sales force is already involved on-site and can complete the regular operational inservice on the equipment. This is supplemented with our programs where clients return the post-tests and received their accredited certificate. This keeps costs down while providing a higher level of training than inservices alone.

In-House or Remote Training

We of course have the full capability of providing in-house training for your clients as well, including hands-on training in any surgical, medical or aesthetic procedure. An option is to include this training as a line item in your sales quotes as a value added service, or we'll discount it to you directly. To keep travel & time costs down we can also conduct live interactive video seminars. Regional Seminars are another option.

Physician Credits

Physicians also receive our Certificates of Training which qualify for Category II CME credits. Our own Physician clients are very satisfied with this because their primary interest is in the Certificate for insurance or institutional credentialing, and these meet that requirement. Category I accreditation would prohibit us from working as closely with the manufactures as we do in customizing materials. We think its better to collaborate and customize, though Category I credits can be arranged if required.
